Dear Mr. Morrison:

In Mr. McCone's absence from the city, I am writing in response to your letter of 19 December concerning [redacted]

Mr. [redacted] was considered for a position in which there were several vacancies. A number of candidates were tentatively identified but Mr. [redacted] was not among those finally selected for employment. He was advised of this conclusion in a letter dated 22 July 1963.

Mr. [redacted] application has been retained for future reference but is not under active consideration at this time. Budgetary and personnel ceiling considerations have sharply restricted our recruitment program and it is difficult to predict when there might be an opening for which he might qualify.

Your inquiry in Mr. [redacted] behalf is appreciated and I hope the information supplied above will be helpful.

Dear Senator Bennett:

In Mr. McCone's absence, I am replying to your letter of 17 December concerning possible employment opportunities for Mr. [redacted].

The curtailment of recruiting in those fields for which Mr. [redacted] appeared to be qualified and severe restrictions we have placed on the hiring of new employees have precluded current consideration of Mr. [redacted] employment at this time. Although we have no immediate vacancy which would accommodate his employment, his application is in our active files for reconsideration should a suitable position become available.

Your inquiry on Mr. [redacted] behalf was appreciated and I hope that the information supplied above will be helpful.

Honorable Wallace F. Bennett
United States Senate
Washington 25, D.C.

Dear Senator Bennett:

In Mr. McCone's absence, I am replying to your letter of 17 December concerning Mr. [REDACTED]

We have explored possible employment opportunities for Mr. [REDACTED] but his file is not under active consideration at this time. Although we have no immediate vacancy which would accommodate his employment, his application is in our active files for reconsideration should a suitable position become available.

The interviewer who saw Mr. [REDACTED] reported favorably on him and recommended that he be considered for a position in the communications field. However, the curtailment of recruiting in that field and in several others in which he appears to be qualified have precluded his employment at this time.

It is unfortunate that a young man of Mr. [REDACTED]'s background and interest in the Agency has applied when we have severely restricted any hiring of new employees. You can assure him that his failure to be offered employment resulted from this situation and that we shall be glad to consider his application again when an appropriate position might be available.

Your inquiry on Mr. [REDACTED] behalf was appreciated and I hope that the information supplied above will be helpful.

Faithfully yours,

Honorable Milton R. Young mark
United States Senate

Dear Senator Young:

Thank you for your letter of 10 December enclosing Form 57 for Mr. [redacted]

We appreciate Mr. [redacted]'s interest in working with us during the summer of 1964. Our needs for temporary employees are quite limited in number, however, and it is not economically practical to investigate and clear candidates for such short periods of service. Thus far, we have been able to fill our requirements by recruiting young people who are already associated with the Agency through the employment of their parents and on whom most of the required background information is already available. Consequently, we have followed the practice of limiting our summer-only employment to this group.

Regarding Mr. [redacted]'s interest in having a personal interview while he is in the Washington area, we would be pleased to have him visit our Personnel Office located at 1016 Sixteenth Street to discuss possibilities for regular employment with us when he completes his college studies. That office is open Monday through Friday from 10:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Mr. [redacted] may wish to call Mr. [redacted] in advance to arrange a convenient time.

Your referral of Mr. [redacted] was appreciated. Since there is no immediate opportunity for him here, we are returning his Form 57 to you in the event you wish to refer it elsewhere.

Sincerely,
